

2025 IMAS Fall Nationals Medal Count & Medal Percentage

By Individual School & By Organization

The 2025 IMAS Fall Nationals in Orlando, Florida was more than a stage for individual talent—it was an arena for schools to test their collective strength. To showcase that, we highlight the Medal Count and Medal Percentage Totals, giving everyone a clear picture of how each school performed.

In IMAS events, students compete not just for themselves but for their school community. To keep things fair across the board, we look at two important measures: the overall number of medals earned and the percentage of medals won compared to how many chances there were to win them.

Here's the breakdown: each event a student signs up for counts as a medal opportunity. For example, an athlete registered in Traditional Forms, Point Sparring, Free-Style Weapons, Padded Stick Sparring, and Flag Sparring has five possible medals. We then compare how many medals were actually earned to those opportunities, giving each school a medal percentage:

Medal Percentage = Medals Won ÷ Medal Opportunities

This system recognizes two forms of excellence:

Total Medal Count – the schools who brought home the largest haul of medals.

Medal Percentage – the schools that made the most of their opportunities, showing the highest rate of success per competitor.

By tracking both, we create a true apples-to-apples comparison between teams of all sizes. It's not just about numbers—it's about recognizing the effort, preparation, and teamwork that drive success. IMAS is proud to celebrate the schools that stood out at Fall Nationals, and we're excited to see who rises to the top at our next event.
